Chapter 1

Kazuya Nagato, an ordinary male high school student, had just finished his classes and was taking the train home like usual.

...when i get home, what should i do?

Whilst he's thinking this, a sudden sharp pain travels through his chest.

[Ugh.....!!]

After scrunching his face in agony, Kazuya fell unconscious.

(TN: Yes, honest to God this is how fast he dies, he's like a certain red shirt O.O#)

[Ugh.....this place?]

When Kazuya, who had previously lost consciousness wakes up, he is no longer in the train, nor is he in a hospital.

He seems to be in a small room surrounded by pure white walls.

Where am i?

Kazuya was surprised to suddenly be in a strange room, he looks around the vicinity restlessly.

He glances at his feet, only to find a small folded piece of paper.

Why would this paper be in such a place?

When he picked up the paper, it seemed to be addressed to “Kazuya”.

[If you're reading this now, then it means you are already dead. The cause of your death was sickness. You will now be transported to another world. I will also bestow upon you three abilities as an apology for the fact that you died 50 years too early. From God.]

Kazuya stands there astonished.

[I was killed by mistake!?!]

He loudly shouted as he threw the letter to the floor.

Well, i'm dead already so it can't be helped. But being transported to another world.....

Kazuya, who's shoulders were shaking whilst he was breathing roughly didn't like that idea. For now, i should at least choose my future abilities.

When Kazuya thought about selecting an ability like in a game, a familiar keyboard and monitor immediately appear.

[What is this? Do i input the abilities i want?]

Three empty columns were shown on the monitor that appeared.

Kazuya immediately inputted the abilities he wanted into the columns.

『Ability to summon weapons and soldiers that can wield them』

『Ability to command weapons and the soldiers that wield them』

『Ability to summon munitions, resources, people and facilities necessary to to operate and maintain the weapons and soldiers that are summoned』

This looks good.

Was what Kazuya was thinking as he re-read the three abilities he inputted.

Even if a weapon is summoned, it's insignificant if it can't be maintained.

The second ability pretty much covers everything.

After he accepts, the abilities window closes and a new window appears.

ERROR!

[You have inputted more than three abilities. You may take these abilities, however restrictions will apply. Do you accept? YES/NO]

Geh!! Did i pack too many features into each ability? Well, it should be ok if the restriction is small.

It's possible the restriction could be serious, however Kazuya decided to think optimistically.

When Kazuya selected [YES] the current window closed and a new window appeared.

[Then, please travel safely to the other world. Furthermore, the world you will be sent to is one of fantasy and magic, even demons exist. There are also people from another world just like you who live there. When a person like that is captured and killed, it is possible to gain a special ability from them]

[Oh, that's lucky. Is what i want to say...however, gaining special abilities from killing otherworlders.... that's just cruel]

Kazuya murmured.

Suddenly, a large pit formed below his feet.

[Eh!? Gyaaaaaaaaa!!!]

Kazuya screamed at his helpless situation as he disappeared into the hole.

Whilst he was falling, a window appeared on his left.

[Also, please note that messing around with otherworlders helps God kill time. So be wary of divine intervention]

This warning was way too slow....

A young man fell from a hole in space and rolled on the ground.

[....Fuuu, i thought i'd died]

The first thing Kazuya felt as he entered the different world was relief.

[Haaa.....I should probably confirm my current abilities for the time being]

When he tries to confirm his new abilities, an excruciating pain spreads across his mind.

[Ahhhh! My head!!!!!!]

Kazuya is left hopeless in the presence of the pain as he writhes on the ground.

After about five minutes, the pain gradually fades.

Damn, that headache just now.....

Kazuya holds his head whilst staggering to stand up. Until, he noticed something.

What is this?

Before his headache, Kazuya had no idea about the logic of this world. However, after the pain had passed, he now had access the the basic knowledge of this world.

.....did the headache awhile ago give me this knowledge?

Please explain that before hand next time.

Although Kazuya was disappointed, he decided to forget about it and move forward instead.

[Then let's check my abilities]

Without even moving his arms or legs, just by thinking about it, Kazuya made a menu panel appear in the air.

- [Summon Arms]
- [Status]
- [Available Summons]
- [Abilities]
- [Map]
- [Help]

Kazuya started operating the menu screen straight away, as an experiment, he tried to summon an M4 carbine....

Isn't that strange?

The M4 carbine wasn't summoned, even after he waited a while.

Whilst confused, Kazuya opened the [Available Summons] screen.
[Summon Arms]

Only arms developed before and during 1945 can be used.

[.....no way]

Kazuya, who had an unpleasant hunch, operates the screen until he finds something. He begins to break into a cold sweat.

The reason Kazuya broke into a cold sweat was due to the sentences that appeared.

[The limitation that has been applied will prevent the summon of any arms past 1945. The amount of arms that can be re-summoned and the number of soldiers are limited also. The limitation can be released if you level up, because this ability incorporates a levelling system]

Uhhh.....back in that room, this explains why confirmation was required.

Kazuya regretted not checking what the limitation of his ability was before accepting.

Although he was calm previously, it's hard to stay calm in this type of situation.

Regardless, Kazuya decided to be more careful in the future.

The number of arms that can be summoned seems to increase with each level. Arms up until 1945 can be summoned, this will become an unexpected cheat ability in this world.

Kazuya decided to think about this positively.

What is my current level? I'd better check it in the status menu. (TLN: This is his thoughts, the author often switches between third person to first person during thoughts and ideas)

Kazuya operated the menu in order to display the status screen.

Name:

Nagato Kazuya

Level:

Equipment:

Uniform, Shoes

It's a very simple status screen.....i wonder if i can check anything else.
Kazuya decided to check what he can summon.

[Amount of arms that can be summoned]

The amount that can be summoned due to the limitation is as follows:

- Infantrymen – 250 (1 Company)
- Ordnance – 30
- Vehicles – 30
- Aircraft – 30
- Warships – 10

When these arms are summoned, the number of people needed to operate it will also be summoned

Logistical personnel (combat engineer, maintenance soldier, communication soldier, supply soldier, medic) is not included in soldier summoning, and summoned separately. The amount of logistic personnel that can be summoned is the amount needed to maintain a division.

There is no limitation on summoning small arms and heavy arms that can be operated by 2 or 3 soldiers.

[Abilities]

- Mental Strengthening (Strong)
- Body Strengthening (Average)
- Common Language

[Map]

- Present location: Forest of the Canary Kingdom

[Help]

[Structure of infantrymen]

When summoning a soldier; the age, sex, appearance and race can be chosen. If you do not select anything, all those variables will be chosen at random. When a soldier is killed, they will not return until a month has passed.

[Ability]

Summons can be made using your mind or your voice. Do not use the menu screen.

Summoned soldiers and weapons are possible to erase.

Whilst battling, weapons and soldiers cannot be summoned.

Kazuya looked over all the summoned items and soldiers.

STG44 German assault rifle, M24 hand grenade, P38 pistol, Bayonet.

.....It's the complete German infantryman set.

For now, i should change my clothes to match. What should i wear....Service uniform? It's good to unify German weapons with a German uniform.

Then....M43 fatigue's. It comes with the appropriate equipment. Portable shovel, knapsack, medicine, helmet and military boots.

Kazuya decides to check his status with his new equipment equipped.

A real gun is heavy.....

Kazuya was impressed by the weight of the STG44, a smile floated on his face.

Now then, shall i call a unit and have them scout the area?

Once Kazuya selected a force to summon, a bright light shone in his eyes. In the next moment, a group of soldiers dressed in M43 fatigues lined up in front of him. None of them looked disorderly at all.

[Ooh!]

Kazuya felt tense as he realised that the soldiers were lined up waiting for his orders.

One of the soldiers who was lined up, took a step forward, salutes and begins to talk.

[We are the first company. We number 250 soldiers.]

Kazuya listened to his words, then returned the salute.

[Understood. By the way, who are you?]

Kazaya questions a nearby soldier who in return advances on step towards him.

With a firm, solid, posture, the soldier saluted before saying.

[Hai! I am Katayama Chitose, Lieutenant Commander, leader of the first company. I will serve as masters aide, please look after me.] (TLN: “Danna” changed from husband to master)

Kazuya’s mind had wandered whilst looking at the company, he seemed to only hear her name and the last few lines.

[Is that so? I will be relying on you in the future Lieutenant Commander Chitose]

Without even noticing it, Kazuya had begun talking in a commanding tone.

[Yes, please do. I will serve master with all my power]

Wait...what’s up with this hot young Lieutenant Commander...

[Understood. By the way Lieutenant Commander, what is the gender ratio of this company?]

When Kazuya had first seen the company, he noticed that there were many female faces.

[There are around 150 female soldiers out of the 250 total soldiers, including me]

.....although i did not set the parameters of the summon, it seems most of them came out female.

Whilst he was thinking such a thing, the Lieutenant Commander opened her mouth to speak.

[It may seem like there are alot of female soldiers, but their skill level doesn't fall behind that of the males. You don't have to worry about them holding the company back.]

Worry seemed to spread on the face of the Lieutenant Commander who was staring intently at Kazaya.

[Ugh....guugh!!]

Kazuya, who could not longer stand the gaze of the Lieutenant Commander, issued orders to the company.

Chapter 2

[First of all, scout the surrounding area, we'll then acquire this location as a defensive position to act as our headquarters]

[Roger]

Kazuya began summoning the necessary facilities using the menu screen, under the close supervision of Chitose.

Concrete buildings were produced, along with the necessary communication equipment.

Thick walls and barbed wire made of concrete and steel respectively enclose the area. Trenches, bunkers and lookout towers are also produced.

A suitable space was set aside for the artillery, it seems that a firm defensive position has been made

[It's good, now that our defense is sorted, lets work on our offense]

For ground mounted weaponry, he summoned the Browning M2 machine gun that was formally adopted by the US Military in 1933 due to it's reliability. It was surpassed by the M20 75mm recoilless rifle. For vehicular weaponry, 10 mounted M4A3 Caliope's (The type that attaches to an M4 Sherman tank), 5 truck mounted BM-12 Katyusha rocket launchers. For ordnance he summoned a M115 203mm Howitzer and the 120-PM43 mortar. Additionally, various other small and large weaponry were summoned. (TN: M4A3 and BM-12 are vehicle mounted rocket launchers)

Ok, that's done. I should probably send the scouts out now.

[Gather all the members of the first company!!]

Kazuya calls over the first company, as well as some of the logistic personnel.

Noisy footsteps could be heard, within an instant the first company had assembled.

When he confirms that all the members are present, he begins to speak.

[I will now explain the upcoming reconnaissance mission. We are currently stationed in the Canary kingdom territory, in a location named 『The forest of no return』it seems to be a den for demons. As this place has a high population of demons, it is the perfect place for a base, if no one has any objections, we will be keeping an outpost here. Now, each division will consist of 10 personnel, there will be 12 divisions, each division will scout 5km starting at bearing 12 o'clock North. Each squad will spread out on bearings between 1:00 and 12:00] (TLN: Hard to translate, but basically, if you imagine a clock. It goes from 1 – 12, the squads will split up like this. So squad 1 goes towards 1:00 and squad 5 will go to 5:00 and so on...)

[[[[Hai!]]]]

[The soldiers who are staying behind are here to guard the base in case of an attack, as well as being my personal escorts. Regardless of whether or not you are scouting or staying behind, all of the first company will receive an appropriate weapon and necessary equipment. The division that is going scouting must take logistical support, so please take a few medics.]

[[[[Roger!]]]]

The soldiers in the company who receive my instructions, salute and answer in chorus.

Well then, because they were summoned without the addition of a weapon, i should summon some.

The STG44 has a shortage in firepower... The MG42 machine gun and the Type 99 sniper rifle, perhaps the auxiliary rocket launcher Panzerfaust?

With this, they should be able to handle tough enemies.

Weapons and logistical personnel are split between the 12 divisions that are going scouting. Also, some troops have been mobilised in order to operate the artillery, should the scouting group need shelling support.

Fuu~ now, i can rest.

[Is there something wrong, master?]

As Kazuya dropped his shoulders, Chitose spoke up.

That reminds me, Chitose calls me master..... (TLN: He only just realised....)

Until now, being called master seemed to be natural, i'd never asked her to change the way she called me.

[Do you mind not calling me master?]

[I will not, because master is master. The way i call you is absolute and cannot be changed. I would like you to call me Chitose without the honorific as well]

[.....Then, i will call you Chitose from now on]

Kazuya snorted roughly, having been overpowered by Chitose's atmosphere he decided to give in.

Proclaiming someone as their one and only master, she sort of resembles a Yandere.....

I wonder if i can see Chitose's status?

Kazuya tried to check it using the menu screen.

.....dangerous.

My aide is dangerous.

Kazuya took his eyes of the menu screen and looked at Chitose whilst breaking a cold sweat.

In return, she takes off her helmet causing her long black hair to fall to her waist. Chitose, like Kazuya was wearing the classic M43 fatigue uniform that seemed to accentuate her figure.

The character is a beautiful women, dangerous.

Chitose, who didn't seem to understand why Kazuya had such a strange expression, instead smiled radiantly, whilst tilting her head in a cute manner.

Kazuya was instinctively stunned upon seeing Chitose's smiling face. No, he mustn't be sidetracked, he strengthened his heart and decided to keep her out of his mind.

After she left for the command centre, Kazuya had detailed talks with the other soldiers who had stayed behind.

He was killing time by doing so, however he suddenly receives a report from one of the reconnaissance divisions.

『Command, this is the sixth division. We have reached the sea, there is neither a person nor a living thing here. We will be returning, as our mission has been completed』

[Command here, understood]

Shortly afterwards, the fourth division and the eighth division returned similar reports.

Whilst i was waiting for the other division's reports, a transmission came through from the ninth division.

『Command, this is the ninth division, please respond』

[Command here]

『There is an artificial structure that looks like a fort around 3 kilo's from command. Please give us instruction』

[Command confirms. We will send the tenth division to your location, once you meet up search the structure]

『Understood, after meeting with the tenth division, the ninth division will search the structure』

The communication officer passes the information onto the tenth division as soon as the line with the ninth division is cut.

[Command here, tenth division please respond]

『This is the tenth division』

[Tenth division, please meet the ninth division. They have discovered an artificial structure which requires searching]

『Understood. The tenth division will join the ninth division』

It was as soon as the communication officer cut the lines to the tenth division

—Dogaaan!!!

Suddenly, an ear splitting explosive sound is heard nearby. The birds in the forest, surprised by this, flew up into the air.

[What happened!?!]

[I'm not sure!! Confirming it now!!]

The noisiness in the command centre increased due to the sudden explosive sound.

One of the soldiers who had been placed on watch suddenly opens the door.

[Commander!! Dark smoke has been confirmed coming from the west!!]

He came tumbling through the door as he raised a loud voice.

[Understood! How is the report from the divisions on the west side going?]

[Currently, the eleventh and twelfth divisions, who were searching nearby, are rushing to the site where the dark smoke is being emitted]

The communication officer who was in contact with the divisions from the west side says this as he faces Kazuya.

[Understood. Chitose!]

[What is it?]

[Mobilise one platoon and support the divisions going towards the explosion site.]

[Roger. I will make the platoon sortie at once!!]

Chitose, who had received the instruction, left the building.

Immediately after that, a communication comes through from the twelfth division.

[Commander, there is a communication from the head of the twelfth division]

[Understood]

Kazuya was passed a headset by the communication officer.

[Report the situation]

『Twelfth division here, when we arrived at the explosion site. A man in his late teens with fair hair seemed to be fighting with a man with black hair in his early thirties. These two people were also observed by the eleventh division who joined us, we took some distance from the site, however we need further instruction』

Perhaps those people are similar to me, but why are they fighting.....

Could it be...

...It's almost certainly because of their abilities, it looks like i can't trust anyone from another world. (TLN: In chapter 1, killing otherworlders grants you their abilities)

Perhaps we can deal with them now, whilst they don't notice our presence.

I had just received my ability and yet i've already met something dangerous.

It's cruel, but reasonable. Kazuya decides to give the instruction to kill to the twelfth division.

[Judge those two men at present as enemies and take care of them. I have one fully armed platoon on their way to support you. Be sure to kill them before they notice you, i'll leave the strategy to your discretion. After killing them, dispose of their bodies and then return. If you fail, cancel the battle and return promptly.]

『The twelfth division has understood your orders. We will begin a course of action as soon as we are joined by the reinfor.....? Report! The man with black hair seems to have won, we are beginning our pursuit now』

[Roger]

When the communication between the twelfth division was cut. Kazuya switched to an open channel and issued an order to every division.

[To the divisions currently on a reconnaissance mission, return immediately to base]

『『『Roger!』』』』

Kazuya, who had finished relaying his orders, sat down as he waited for the report.

Chapter 3

The leader of the twelfth division, Sergeant Eric Ball had just finished his communication with Kazuya. He passed the walkie talkie back to the communications officer and issued orders to his division.

[Just now, we received orders from our commander. We have been told that the man at present is to be considered an enemy and must be taken care of. Moreover, there is a fully armed platoon on their way to reinforce us, the strategy will begin once the platoon joins us and takes up position]

When Sergeant Eric passed the orders to his subordinates, one soldier raised his hand.

[What kind of strategy is it, division leader?] (TLN: Forgot to mention, division can be read as squad)

[I will explain it now....however this is an order directly from the commander, failure is not an option. The enemy has some kind of ability, so pay close attention to the two stage plan]

After looking over his subordinates, Sergeant Eric begins to speak.

[First of all, we will pre-emptively strike from a long distance using the snipers in this division and the ones in the platoon reinforcements. He should die with just this attack, however should it fail, the snipers will lay down covering fire. During this time, we will close the distance to the target. Then the entire fire power of the platoon will be concentrated on him.....should that fail, it will be judged that our weapons are ineffective and we will withdraw under the support of a bombardment from HQ]

[[[.....]]]

[Does anyone have any questions? If not i'll move on. Communications officer, relay the strategy to the first platoon. For convenience we will be named the second platoon]

When he had finished saying so, Sergeant Eric moved to join with the first platoon.

[The target?]

[It's there]

[It's that man....]

『This is the first platoon, we've taken our attack positions』

At that report, Sergeant Eric moved his troops into position.

[Now, the strategy has begun. Snipers from the first and second platoon will open fire at the same time. If that fails, move onto the next stage of the plan]

A subordinate of Sergeant Eric was relaying his orders to the first platoon. With a Kachari~ the bolts on the Type 99 rifles were pulled back and the first bullet was loaded into the chamber.

[It's ok Sergeant, with my Type 99 at this distance, it's impossible for me to miss]

[If you have that much confidence, then bring the target down without exception]

Looking carefully through the scope, the soldier with a broad grin replies [Understood!] whilst filled with fighting spirit.

After a few moments, on the orders of Sergeant Eric, the fighting begins. The Type 99 rifles open fire.

[The first bullet hit his right shoulder, but after that, all other bullets were stopped! the first stage has failed!]

The soldier next to Sergeant Eric shouted so. The soldiers hiding in the brush who heard this, emerged and began opening fire.

[Go!!]

[Charge!!]

[[[[Oooooooooo!]]]]

The snipers cursed as the soldiers laid down fire on the man.

[Crap!! One of the bullets that the man stopped was going to be a fatal wound!! Moreover, he repelled a bullet by just flicking it!!]

The second platoon lays down fire 200m away from the target.

The sound of gunfire from the STG44's and the MG42's fill the air, a hail of bullets rains down on the man.

Before the bullets could hit him, the man jumps into a nearby pit to use as a shield.

[Shoot him, Shoot him, fire everywhere!!]

[Don't raise your head to the enemy!!] (TLN: I think he's saying don't make yourself a target)

Bullets hit the ground near the pit one after another, splinters and dirt explode into the air.

The thing that caused the most damage was the Browning M1919A2 double barrelled machine gun (The type that is easy to transport) that the first company brought. Also, the PTRS-41 with 20mm bullets were heavily drilling the Earth, but the man did not show any reaction.

[Damn!! Where are you shooting?!]

It seemed like a counter-attack, only the man's hand appeared. He was holding a cane, and was slowly shaking it. Suddenly, a fireball emerged, which was then thrown. Luckily, it missed and exploded in an open area.

[Damn it!! Is he a wizard or something!? That's terrifying!!]

Sergeant Eric pull out the empty magazine from his STG44, whilst he listens to his subordinates cowardice.

He puts in a new magazine and reloads.

Shit, this guy must have some sort of ability. Is it hopeless!?

Sergeant Eric issues an order for the use of the Panzerfaust auxiliary armament.

[You guys! Use the Panzerfausts! Meanwhile, communication officers, contact the first platoon and order them to use the Type 89 grenade dischargers! Panzerfaust and Type 89 operators, aim at the pit the man is in! Blow him up!!] (TLN: Type 89's are portable mortars)

Soldiers from the second platoon followed Sergeant Eric's orders and began equipping the Panzerfaust.

—On the other side, the first platoon who had received the report, began preparing the Type 89's

[Drop dead!!]

[Die quickly, you magic bastard!!]

The preparations were almost complete, so that the enemy wouldn't interrupt them, the soldiers concentrated fire on the man's position using the STG44, MG42, M1919A2, Type 97 automatic cannon and the PTRS-41 double barrelled cannon without rest.

When Sergeant Eric hears that the preparations are complete, he issues an order.

[First platoon, open fire!!]

After a few seconds, the heavy Bon~ sound of the Type-89's fills the air.

The high explosive projectile landed close to the pit. At this, the man quickly retreated away from the target of the bombardment.

Sergeant Eric did not overlook this and issued some orders.

[Shoot!!]

Sergeant Eric's instructions were heard by the entire platoon. Without a moment's delay, the soldiers who had been waiting, launched their Panzerfausts.

Shells explode nearby and the man is instantly wrapped in the fumes the explosion.

At the place where the man was last seen, only smoke remained.

[.....]

Is he dead? Sergeant Eric who thought so, ordered 2 soldiers to check it out.

[Shit!!]

Suddenly, whilst approaching. One of the soldier's right arm gets blown off and his clothes are torn. A man who appears to be bleeding from every pore jumps out.

[Uhh!]

[Guge!?!]

The two soldiers were caught completely off guard.

One of the soldiers is kicked by the jumping man, he then falls onto the other soldier knocking them both down.

When the man tries to approach the fallen soldiers to deal a fatal blow,

Sergeant Eric and his men readied their weapons.

The firing tone of the Type 99 sniper rifle was heard from behind the Sergeant.

A small hole opened up on the man's head.

In response to this, the entire platoon opens fire with the PTRS-41's as added security.

When a large bullet hits the man, it tears off a large portion of his body.

[.....?]

The face of the man who doesn't seem to know what happened is stunned. A large part of his body has been flung one metre away.

The lower part of of his body hits the ground at the same time as the upper part.

[Did we do it.....?]

As if to reply to this, Sergeant Eric turns to face his platoon, raising his fist and floating a smile.

He's.....dead.

After confirming once again that the man was indeed dead, Sergeant Eric relaxes his shoulders.

After reporting the mission completion to HQ, Sergeant Eric joins up with the first company and disposes of the body. They then start their return to base.

[Mission complete!! Let's return home!!]

After the report, guns and explosive sounds could be heard from the west.

A few moments later, the noise ceased and a report from the second company came in.

『Target has been eliminated, our damage is two injured. The amount dead equal zero. Because the corpse has been dealt with, we are returning to base』

[Command consents. Return home]

With this, the object of worry has been destroyed

At the base, Kazuya begins to think....should i go and confirm it myself?

Hearing the results of this, Kazuya issued orders to his soldiers.

Chapter 4

The first thing Kazuya decided to do whilst he was waiting for the second platoon to return. Was to check what ability and privilege he gained from defeating the other world man.

[Privileges]

- Mental Strengthening(Strong)
- Body Strengthening(Strong)
- Common Language
- Luck(Average)

Has only one of my privileges increased....

The privilege i stole hasn't increased much. (TLN: He got luck from the man, but it's only average level)

[Abilities]

Complete healing

- Any sickness of injury can be healed, if not dead.

Peerless

- Vitality has increased by a factor of ten.

(———)

I'm thankful for the ability at the top, but the ability at the bottom....

Well, i wonder if it's better than nothing?

Under peerless it shows “()” i wonder if it can't be read?

After Kazuya has finished confirming his abilities, he tilts his head as he wonders what it could mean. Suddenly, the soldiers who have finished their mission return home.

「The first and second platoon have just returned!!」

「You've been through a lot, rest easy」

After the platoon's return, Kazuya orders them to rest. From the soldiers who didn't go on the recon mission, he organises a platoon to travel to to the fort the ninth division found.

「Well then, i'm going to go and see the fort now」

「Eh....? I? Master, I?」

「Ah, Chitose, please take over command in my absence. If i get into any trouble, i'll ask for your support」

「Master....Please take me, i am your aide! Am i unnecessary for master!?!」

Her eyes grew dark as she became surrounded by a disturbing aura.

Oh....i didn't expect this.....it seems like she's become a yandere.

「No, that's not what i meant. The only reason i can freely leave is because i trust you enough to leave everything in your care」

「.....so.....master isn't deserting me....」

Chitose smiled at Kazuya with a relieved look.

「Then, i'll be going」

「Yes, please leave the command to me!」

Chitose responds with a smile whilst saluting.

When she turned into yandere mode so suddenly, i was surprised.

Luckily, the words Chitose murmured next did not reach Kazuya's ears.

「...does master not understand...what would happen if he threw me away....? Fufufufu」

The serious and threatening words of Chitose had already dissolved into the air before they were heard.

「Then, the first platoon will sortie」

「「「「Understood」」」」

After he calls the platoon together, he sets off for the fort.

Eh? is someone coming to welcome me?

「We've been waiting commander, the fort is this way」

Soldiers from the ninth division met up with the platoon halfway and guided them to the fort.

Suddenly whilst walking, the forest opens up and a meadow spreads into view.

The fort was sitting in the centre of the meadow silently.

「This....is definitely a fort. It's completely enclosed with a gate. The outside walls seem extremely strong, even though it is worn down」

The fort seemed to be made completely from stone and wood.

However, how long has it been since it was abandoned? Ivy twines around the fort, it's almost completely buried by it.

「I'll call the head of the ninth division」

After saying so, the soldier runs into the fort.

I wonder why the fort isn't on the map? Is it because it is abandoned?

Why is the fort even here?

The head of the ninth division walks up to Kazuya whilst he is thinking this.

「I'm sorry to have kept you waiting. As we have already searched and secured the fort, would you like to have a look inside?」

「Yes, i would like to confirm the inside myself」

「Then, please follow me」

Kazuya entered the fort, whilst being guided by the head of the ninth division, Lieutenant Ibuki.

.....empty.

Furthermore, the majority of the rooms inside were worn down.

Kazuya chose a room that appears to be the least degraded, he summons communication machinery so that they can contact headquarters at any time.

As he wanted to know if there were any concealed passages or doors, he ordered the platoon to conduct a more detailed search of the fort.

After around an hour, the entire fort had been thoroughly surveyed.

Kazuya received the report from the Lieutenant.

「First of all, this fort is around 3 kilometres away from command. It's length and width is around 250 metres, the only entrance is the gate up front. Neither a concealed passage nor a door were discovered」

「Is that so? That could become a problem」

「Yes, it seems as though the previous inhabitants were removed by force」

Kazuya, who was receiving the report from Lieutenant Ibuki peered outside.

He noticed that it was starting to get dark.

What time is it? Did we spend too much time searching the fort?

Kazuya saw the night sky through the window.

As he was not in a hurry to conclude his business, he decided to spend the night in the fort.

At night it's very dangerous, the demons are most active at this time.

Kazuya thought about safety first and decided to spend the night in the fort.

He ordered a communications officer to relay that fact to HQ.

「Because it is nightfall right now, we have decided to spend the night in the fort. Discuss amongst yourselves the patrol rotation times. If you have to move about, do so with at least two people. Distribute combat equipment for night time use and walkie talkies, we will be leaving in the early morning」

Various equipment was handed out, Kazuya summoned a tent and decided to take a rest.

Various things happened today, so he was tired.

Should i have made the lieutenant rest first?

Kazuya, whilst feeling tired, tells the lieutenant to rest and then goes back to bed.

Whilst Kazuya was lying down, the lieutenant came to visit him.

「.....Lieutenant Ibuki, is something wrong?」

Kazuya asked the lieutenant whilst rubbing sleep out of his eyes.

「You were resting, i'm sorry. It seems the patrol spotted moving shadows in the forest」

「What did you say!? please say that earlier next time」

Kazuya quickly equips his armour and weaponry and rushes outside his room with the lieutenant.

He met up with the patrol shortly afterwards and began to speak with one of the soldiers.

「What do you have for me?」

「The moving object is over there」

After hearing this, Kazuya peeked into the forest using night vision goggles.

「There's definitely something moving.....but i can't see it clearly」

Although he could see the forest with the night vision goggles, he couldn't see the moving object very well.

「Lieutenant, prepare for action」

「Understood」

「Shall we report this to command?」

「It has already been reported. I hear that the preparations for bombardment were completed ten minutes ago in case of an emergency」

「Good job Lieutenant」

「Thank you for the praise, Commander」

After the conversation was over, the lieutenant issued an order to the 80 soldiers at the fort using a walkie talkie to prepare for combat.

「We will put our entire strength into our combat formation! Close the gate to the fort. You are prohibited from firing unless ordered to do so! That concludes my report」

「「「「Understood!!」」」」

Five minutes after Kazuya's instructions are relayed.

The platoon had blocked the front gate. Kazuya prepared some flare bombs to launch into the forest.

「Fire them!」

On that signal, in every direction, north, south, east and west. Two flares were fired for a total of eight, deep into the night sky.

The light from the bombs begin to illuminate the vicinity.

「Oh.....that's not good...」

A large amount of monsters appeared from the forest, surrounding the fort.

「I can't believe it. The scouts didn't encounter a single monster, where did they all come from?」

「I'm sorry i don't understand, is the current situation bad?」

The amount of demons surrounding the fort increased as the lieutenant asked this.

「Goblins, Kobolds, Orcs. I think even an orc has come」

All the demons who were approaching the fort were armed with rusty swords and clubs. They were also wearing worn out armour.

「We can't run away now, we're surrounded...」

「Agreed, the only way to survive now is to annihilate the enemy」

In total, Kazuya had around 80 soldiers. 20 in one platoon and 60 split between the two divisions. (TLN: Remember, he sent two divisions to the fort then brought a platoon to reinforce them)

8 M2 heavy machine guns and ammunition set up. Along with 10 type 97 double barrelled machine guns, 5 type 2 12cm mortars and 10 type 89 grenade dischargers.

Even though we have a bombardment on standby, will it even be able to annihilate all the monsters? Even if we call for reinforcements now, they won't arrive until the morning.....

Wait, because combat has not started yet, can i still summon weapons?

Unexpectedly, when Kazuya checked his menu screen, a strange text box appeared.

[God's trial: Number 1]

Survive the demons attacks!

Total amount of enemies:

17,829

.....so this is the reason why there are so many demons.

Now it's impossible to summon anything, damn it!! Why would you make such a trial you ridiculous God!! How is this an apology for accidentally killing me....

I can't believe it, what a waste of time God....

Instantly, Kazaya thought of a plan.

「Lieutenant Ibuki, how long is it until morning?」

「Around 2 hours」

「It that so.... Communications officer!! Request a bombardment at once. Also, request for reinforcements」

「Understood!!」

The communications officer began a wireless communication with the command centre.

It's almost time.

The moment when communication with command was cut, Kazuya's preparations were complete. The nearby monsters raised a unified shout and surged towards the fort.

「Ah, they're coming!! –Let's show them our strength!! We will survive!!」

「「「「Ooooooooo!」」」」

Kazuya stares at the approaching monsters. He raises his STG44 and aims at one of the running goblins, then pulls the trigger.

Thus the nightmare-ish battle began.

Chapter 5

Shells rip through the nights sky landing on the ground shortly after.

Tens of monsters are blown away by the resulting explosion.

The monsters who are not killed instantly, are scattered around the site, covered in blood and panting heavily.

「Communications soldier! Contact command! Concentrate fire position 2-7-0 distance 3200 metres. Aim at the area surrounding the fort!」

「Understood! 1st platoon here to command! Concentrate fire position 2-7-0 distance 3200 metres. I repeat, concentrate fire position 2-7-0 distance 3200 metres. Aim at the area surrounding the fort!」

After combat was initiated. The flow of monsters had not slowed down, despite a significant amount of time passing.

Kazuya kept up the barrage, desperately shooting monsters dead.

Dammit! The numbers don't seem to decrease no matter how many we kill!

Kazuya was operating the M2 Browning machine gun. Grotesque red flowers blossomed on every monster he hit.

「Commander! From the right!」

「Got it, eat this!!」

The power of the M2's 12.7mm bullets was so great that you couldn't even recognise that what it hit used to be a living creature.

「There are so many!!」

「Don't worry! With the support from the bombardment, we're safe!」

A nearby soldier tries to encourage his comrade who had lost faith.

The M4A3 Calliope, BM-13 Katyusha and the M115 203mm Howitzer were providing significant explosive firepower. Whereas the STG44, MG42, Type 99, Panzerfaust, Type 89 and M2 heavy machine gun were cutting down the demons at a rapid rate.

「Ah! The bombardments power has fallen!」

Kazuya noticed that the number of shells that were falling on the battlegrounds had significantly decreased. Kazuya asked the communications officer next to him what was wrong.

「The M4A3 and the BM-13 are reloading! The bombardment has decreased because the Howitzer is overheating! It can't take rapid fire!」

Dammit! There's no other way. We'll have to supplement the bombardment using the Type 89 grenade dischargers and the Type 2 12cm mortars!

Kazuya was running out of bullets, if he didn't save them now, he would quickly run out.

He comes up with an idea after hearing the communication officer's report.

「Ibuki! How long until morning!?!」

「About one hour!」

Lieutenant Ibuki who was sniping with the Type 97 answered loudly, whilst picking off a large troll.

Only one hour.....can we endure that long?

Whilst Kazuya was thinking of a counter measure, the monsters who noticed the decline in bombardment, advanced on the fort.

Then, one soldier shouts with a sorrowful voice.

「Bullets! Someone give me some bullets!!」

Eh? They're running out of bullets as well!?

Kazuya reels from the double punches. Not only has the support bombardment declined, but they were running out of ammunition as well.

I wonder how many are left?

Whilst thinking this, Kazuya opens up his menu panel.

[God's trial – Number 1]

Survive the monster's attack!!

Total amount of enemies:

2,354

Although we've killed a considerable number, is there really this many left?

「I'm out of bullets!!」

「Me too!」

「Same here!」

The soldiers began to shout out the same thing one after another.

「Dammit! Eat this!」

「Throw them!」

The soldiers who had ran out of ammunition, began to throw grenades and open fire with their P38's.

A soldier a short distance from Kazuya raises his voice.

「Troll approaching!!」

When Kazuya turns to face the direction the voice came from, he sees a large Troll slowly walking towards the fort, shaking the ground as he does so.

Ah! There's no other way! I'll have to use the last one!

The Troll began to run towards the gate. Kazuya loaded the last Panzerfaust round into the launcher, aimed at the Troll and then fired.

Boshu~ The shot warhead travels in a straight line straight for the Troll. The head of the Troll is completely obliterated.

The Troll who lost its head due to the explosion, fell backwards and crushed the Goblin behind it.

「Good!!」

Monster's began to break the gate as the lack of ammunition had hindered the platoon's defense.

....the gate won't last much longer.

「Everyone! Distribute your remaining ammunition!」

As Kazuya looks at the gate, he orders the soldiers to pool together and then distribute their ammunition.

「The redistribution is complete」

「Those who still have a working weapon, meet me at the gate!!」

Kazuya issues an order using the walkie talkie. He then quickly gets off the wall and hurries to the gate.

「「「「.....」」」」

「Is this everyone?」

When Kazuya arrived at the gate, soldiers who had been fighting in various places around the fort were now gathered in one place.

All of their eyes shone like that of a beasts. Their faces were coloured jet black from the smoke.

「We will stop the monster's advance by any means necessary!」

「「「「Roger!!」」」」

Kazuya operated the M2 Browning and aimed it at the gate.

Suddenly, the gate began to break in some places. Through the gaps, Kazuya could see the ugly face of a goblin.

「Everyone, fix bayonets!」

On the instruction of Kazuya, all the soldiers took their bayonets from their waists and affixed them to their STG44's.

At the same time, the morning sun shone down on the fort.

The support unit from Chitose should be here soon.

We just have to endure until then!

The sound of the gate being broken increases. Hope fills Kazuya's chest as the gate finally collapses.

The monsters raised a jarring yell. however, the first thing that met them, was a barrage from Kazuya's M2.

「Hello! now, goodbye!」

The 12.7mm bullets were so strong that they not only pierced straight through a monster's head, but also the monster behind it.

However, within ten seconds the bullets had all been used up.

「50.....40....30....20.....10.....0. I'm out!!」

Immediately after hearing 0, the soldier began to charge.

「Everyone charge!!」

Everyone began to advance on the monsters with their STG44's with attached bayonets. A fierce battle erupted.

The amount of monsters had decreased to around 200.

One soldier who lost his STG44, started hitting a Kobold over the head with a shovel, whilst others pierced their hearts with bayonets.

「Behind you!」

「Eh!? Thanks...i'm saved!」

Kazuya who was providing supporting fire with his Walther P38, saved a nearby soldier.

Suddenly, as Kazuya was slipping out an empty magazine. A goblin carrying a rusty sword leapt at him.

That's bad!! I'll be killed!!

Kazuya was completely open. He tried to twist his body to reach for the spare magazine at his waist.

However, suddenly a bullet flew from the side and struck the goblin dead.

When Kazuya looks to where the bullet came from. He sees Chitose carrying an STG44 whilst panting heavily. She must have ran here at top speed.

Smoke rises steadily from her gun's muzzle.

.....I'm alive. Thank god Chitose got here on time.

Following suite, the rest of the reinforcements arrived.

Afterwards, the rest of the monsters were wiped out.

「Ha~~」

Upon seeing the appearance of Chitose, Kazuya sat down next to her.

Chitose approaches him whilst running her fingers along his body, checking for any injuries.

「Master!! Are you safe!? Are you injured!?!」

「Ah, i'm safe, i have no injuries. You really saved me Chitose.」

「Of course! It is my raison d'être to protect master after all」(TLN: Raison d'être -> Reason for existing)

Kazuya offered a hand to Chitose who floated a gentle smile.

The surrounding meadow around the fort had been completely burnt and upturned due to the bombardment

Monster corpses filled both the inside and the outside of the fort. The smell of gunpowder and burnt monsters is strong.

「Master, we should leave the corpses to be dealt with by the platoon i brought. We should return to command for the time being, we have injured to treat after all」

「.....that's right」

Kazuya takes Chitose's advice and leaves the processing of the corpses to the soldiers. He then returns to the command centre.

The rest of the soldiers who had just returned from the fort, were ordered by Kazuya to take a two day rest.

Afterwards, he listened to the damage report submitted by Chitose.

「35 light injuries. 10 seriously injured.....five dead? It's a miracle that only 5 people died」

「.....yes」

Kazuya murmured so as he looked over the crowded corpse bags in the field hospital.

「.....well, i should replenish the ammunition before i rest」

「Master, as master is not yet accustomed to combat, please rest」

Chitose seemed to ask with a worried expression.

「Ah, as this was my first time in combat, i'm far too high strung to sleep right now」

「However..... Never mind i understand, please rest after the replenishment」

「Got it」

After nodding and replying to the words of Chitose, Kazuya began silently replenishing the ammunition.

「.....」

Chitose, who was anxiously watching the back of Kazuya from quite a distance away, began to smile from ear to ear as she thought of something good.

She hurriedly called over the nearby female officers and began to whisper.

「Hey, you guys」

「Hm, what is it?」

「Listen a little.....murmur」

「-!? That's a great idea!」

The female officers who heard Chitose's words also began to smile from ear to ear.

If Kazuya had seen the fearless smiles of the female officers at that point. Perhaps what happened next could have been avoided.

Maybe...

「Hm? Where did Chitose go?」

Kazuya began to search for Chitose after his replenishment work had ended.

「Oh, that's where you were. Hey, Chitose!」

Kazuya found Chitose surrounded by a group of female officers, all with serious expressions.

「「「!?」」」

「!? Master! Have you finished!?」

Chitose's voice seemed to tremble as she spoke

What? Did I surprise her too much?

「Yes, I'm a little tired, so I'm going to rest now」

「Is that so? Then please take a long rest, I will make sure no-one approaches」

「Ok, thank you」

Immediately afterwards, Kazuya went to his room in the command centre and laid down in his bed.

He suddenly heard a noise.

.....eh?has someone entered?

Kazuya suddenly noticed that someone had entered his bedroom, so he repositioned himself to take a look

Wait? Isn't there something wrong? Kazuya thought as he realised he couldn't move his body.

Looking around he saw that his hands and feet were restricted by a rope.

Also, five female officers including Chitose and Lieutenant Ibuki were at the foot of his bed.

.....? What is with this situation?

Kazuya, not understanding why he was restrained, tried to ask Chitose.

「Chitose, why have i been tied up?」

「Master....it's that....」

「That.....?」

「We want to show master how much he means to us.....with our bodies」

「.....?」

「Because husband's son seems painful, allow me to take care of it」(TLN: ;D)

Chitose and the other's faces seemed dyed red with sexual desire.

「I can't hold back....」

「No no, master does not need to hold back. You can be as greedy as you like with our bodies」

「We will try out utmost to please master!」

Chitose and the others say so as they float a smile, slowly approaching the bed Kazuya was on.

「Wait! Settle down!! Listen!」

「We are driven by our instincts now.....we'll talk later....」

Chitose slowly begins to remove her one piece.

Kazuya could see that the others had lost all reason, so he tried to call for help from the other soldiers.

「Ah! Someone help!」

「It's useless master. You told everyone to take a 2 day rest.....」

A large amount of sweat begins to pour out of Kazuya as he listens to the words of Chitose.

Chitose and the others seemed unable to endure it any longer and got onto his bed in their undergarments.

「Then.....please enjoy our bodies」

「Iyaaaaaaaaa!」

As a hand was put on his pyjamas, Kazuya screamed like a girl.

Afterwards, all that could be heard throughout the command room was panting and moaning.

「.....」

After 2 days had passed. Kazuya left the command room seemingly appearing thinner than before.

He had been wrung dry.

After the initial attack, the other female soldiers in the company started participating.

Without the strong body strengthening and peerless skill given by God, he would've surely died.

2 days had passed before he was even aware of it.

From the space in the door, Kazuya took a glance into his room. Chitose and the others were sprawled on his bed sleeping soundly with a pleased expression, whilst covered in a cloudy liquid.

「Ha~」

Kazuya took one last glance into his room and then went to the operations room.

「.....」

What he was met with was a group of male soldiers standing shoulder to shoulder in formation

「「「「.....」」」」

.....what's this?

The male soldiers simultaneously saluted, then left the operations room.

.....i don't understand.

Kazuya also saluted in return. Without understanding why.

Chapter 6

Chitose and Kazuya had begun a meeting with the other officers to decide on their future.

Now, there were a few problems. How exactly do you decide your future?

「That's exactly how it is, master」

「.....you shouldn't read other peoples minds without permission, Chitose」

「I know everything that master is thinking」

「.....」

After the attack it seems that Chitose yandere side had become more prominent.

.....scary.

Oh, did my level rise?

To confirm whether or not Kazuya’s level had risen, he opened his menu screen.

[God’s trial – Number 1]
The first trial has been cleared.
Congratulations.

Your level has risen to 19.

The limitation on your ability has been reduced.

[Amount of armaments that can be summoned:]

Infantrymen: 1,000 (One battalion)

Artillery: 200 (TLN: Changed ordnance to artillery)

Vehicles: 450

Aircraft: 250

Warships: 50

When these arms are summoned, the number of people needed to operate it will also be summoned

Logistical personnel (combat engineer, maintenance soldier, communication soldier, supply soldier, medic) is not included in soldier summoning, and summoned separately. The amount of logistic personnel that can be summoned is the amount needed to maintain a division.

There is no limitation on summoning small arms and heavy arms that can be operated by 2 or 3 soldiers.

Kazuya's level had risen considerably since he killed so many monsters.

With less strict restrictions on his ability, he felt he could truly make a real military base.

Wait a moment...

This forest is on the border between the Canary kingdom and the Elsass magic empire. We should relocate our base soon.

「Ah, Chitose?」

「Well, talking about a new base...」

.....is she really reading my mind?

Kazuya began to feel fear towards Chitose's mind reading abilities.

After Kazuya had consulted with Chitose and the others. It was decided that a large scale base was to be set up on a deserted island, 400km from the previous base.

Kazuya summons a destroyer and travels to the uninhabited island.

When he arrives, he uses his ability to the fullest and begins development.

The speed at which he was building the base could be called nothing but a cheat.

As Kazuya walks the length of the island, he begins to summon the necessary facilities. Including a naval base, airport and command centre. On top of that, he summons anti aircraft positions, artillery positions, radar sites and flak towers. As well as military equipment such as the V2 rocket with silo.

Moreover, he summons various other non-military related facilities, such as amusement centres.

Also, built under the soil there were storehouses and bomb shelters. Above ground he builds production facilities for arms and ammunition, he can't always rely on his ability.

「.....it's done」

「Thank you very much, master」

Originally, building such a large base would take a copious amount of time and money. However, the construction of this one had taken no time at all.

「Shall we build a defensive position on the continent?」

「That's a good idea」

After completing the base, Kazuya begins to establish a military outpost

「I will build a smaller version of our stronghold here, it will make it more convenient」(TLN: He refers to the large island base he just built as a stronghold)

「The empire and the kingdom might make a move here, if i build it too big」

Most military outposts are built similarly to strongholds. Although the necessary equipment is summoned, it is camouflaged so as not to be seen even from the air.

By the way, according to the new rules on Kazuya's ability. He could now operate 2 bases at once. Also, he now had 500 soldiers in each base, with a total of 10,000 logistic personnel. There was a severe lack of weapons, and because of the limitation on Kazuya's ability, the production factory's were in a state of constant operation. (TLN: 10,000 logistic personnel. This seems about right considering medics, gun builders, transport, operations centre staff and radar etc... literally 10 logistic personnel to every 1 soldier.)

「The situation is a little bad.....」

「Yes, currently even with our large numbers, we do not have the necessary strength to fight back if we are suddenly attacked」

Kazuya looked over the report on the distribution of weapons and ammunition between the two bases.

The soldiers don't have enough weapons as expected....

Currently, their main method of defense was the warships.

Now then, what should we do....?

Kazuya began to rack his brains on what to do about the weapons and ammunition shortage.

20 military vehicles are waiting in an ordered line for departure.

「The sortie is complete, Commander Chitose」

「Is see.....then master」

「Ah, are you going?」

About two months had passed since Kazuya came to this world.

After saving up the ammo and weapons produced by the factories, expanding the stronghold and subduing the demons around the outpost. Kazuya had no intentions to be confined to the base forever. By the way, because the number of summoned soldiers has increased to the size of a battalion. Chitose, who was a major had been promoted to lieutenant colonel.

「About your position as my aide.....」

「Eh?the role as master's aide.....have i already been dismissed!？」

The atmosphere around Chitose changed dramatically, a frightening smile appeared on her face. The light in her eyes seemed to disappear.

「.....wait! Who is this!? This is a different Chitose!!」

Kazuya who didn't understand the meaning behind Chitose actions, saw her dangerous smile and realised he'd messed up.

「What is different, master? Are you perhaps, tired of me?」

Chitose closes the distance between her and Kazuya whilst speaking emotionless words.

Dangerous....

Kazuya tried to move backwards a little to put some distance between him and that terrifying aura. However, the distance between the two people was only staying constant.

「I'm not tired of you at all! I just thought that since you are such a high rank now with alot more duties, it would be better if i summoned someone else from the lower ranks」

Ah! The wall!?

Whilst trying to speak the excuse he just thought of now, Kazuya hit his back against a wall, losing his only chance of escape.

「There's no need to be so anxious...」

「Well, no.....uh....Chitose?」

Chitose pushes both her hands against the wall, trapping Kazuya with her body.

She brought her face closer to his whilst staring into his pupils.

「If that's the case, then am i allowed to keep my promotion whilst being master's aide.....?」

「Ah! I understand now, you can keep your promotion and keep working as my aide!!」

Kazuya felt fear as he gazed into Chitose's pupils. Her atmosphere had changed so suddenly, he could no longer endure it, and so conceded.

「Is that so? That is good, master」

Saying that Chitose floated a smile.

After that event Chitose was solidified as both the Lieutenant Colonel and Kazuya's personal aide.

「Then please look after the base, Lieutenant Colonel Miller」(TLN: Commander was the navy term that i accidentally used, Lieutenant Colonel is the army and correct one)

「Please leave it to me!」

When there is no Chitose or Kazuya occupying the outpost, LTC Miller would be in command.

Kazuya then issued the order to advance into the secret underground tunnel.

「Let's depart」

「All vehicles, forward!!」

The engines of the vehicles groan loudly. In total there was 18 cars in the convoy. 4 Motorcycles with sidecars, 3 M8 tanks, 3 Armed jeeps (M20 75mm recoilless rifle and the M2 Browning were equipped) as well as 8 trucks filled with soldiers and supplies.

Chitose had organised it so that the total number of soldiers in the convoy equalled 60.

At the end of the underground passage, there seemed to be a dead end. However, suddenly the rock face splits open and reveals an elevator, which raises the vehicles to the surface.

When was Kazuya finished being raised above ground, he found was facing a well maintained highway in the Canary kingdom.

「Stick close. We only have limited knowledge about this world, we don't want to cause and unnecessary fights」

『『『『Roger!』』』』

「Onward!!」

On the orders of Kazuya, the convoy advances on the nearest city.

「Master, is it okay to use these vehicles? The main method of transportation in this world is a carriage. Won't we stand out too much?」

「Well, there is no other way. As well as bringing 60 soldiers, we also have ammunition, medical supplies and food. It is more efficient to use a vehicle. My ability can also allow me to summon carriages, however they won't offer much protection during battle and i can't summon when i'm in combat. Because of that, it is safer to travel by car」

「I see, i thought that was why....」

「If someone asks, just say it is a magic item. We're going to be using modern weapons, so we'll stand out anyway」

After hearing the explanation from Kazuya, Chitose promptly takes out her walkie talkie as a report had just come in.

「.....Ah, understood. Master, the B-29's report that three wagons are currently under attack from monsters. How should we proceed?」(TLN: B-29's are bomber planes also known as flying fortresses)

Chitose asks Kazuya whilst pointing out the incident site on a map.

「....ah....abandoning them would leave a bad taste. Chitose, pass me the walkie talkie」

「By all means」

「Kazuya to all vehicles, a wagon is currently under attack from monsters. Prepare for combat」

『『『Roger!!』』』』

After returning the walkie talkie to Chitose, Kazuya also prepares for action.

In order to save the group in time, Kazuya hurries.
